Laurelville couple survives quake

By GRETCHEN GREGORY
LOGAN DAILY NEWS

LOGAN — When Laurelville residents Vanessa Ogg and her husband Randy planned a mission trip to Haiti, they had no idea they would find themselves immersed in one of the worst natural disasters the Caribbean country has ever seen.

‘It was like standing on a surfboard in the water’

After surviving the initial disaster and watching a coffee-pot shake to signal the many aftershocks, they returned home last weekend.

“It was just crazy,” Vanessa said. “We were just in shock. It’s good to be home.”

When last week’s magnitude-7.0 quake struck, she was in the mission compound where she and several other members of the Mission Possible Team were staying, approximately 60 miles north of Port-au-Prince.

“We were fixing the meal for dinner when the building started to sway,” she said “It was like standing on a surf-board in the water. It didn’t shake as much as it swayed.”

Luckily, the mission compound withstood the quake, along with numerous aftershocks that filled the evening.

“The building was made all of concrete and there was no damage whatsoever. In Haiti, there is no infrastructure, and what buildings they do put up has a little rebar in it but not enough to support them.”

Just a few miles away, her husband Randy was constructing an upper level for additional classroom space at a vocational school when the quake struck.

“I was at the compound where we stay and my husband

DuPont officials confirmed Monday that the company will invest $175 million in its Circleville plant to complete the expansion of its high-performance Tedlar film production line.

The new line, expected to be operational by September 2011, will employ at least 230 construction workers at the peak of construction and will bring at least 70 new full-time jobs to the Circleville production facility, according to Tony Eichstadt, plant manager.

“We are absolutely elated to have this investment coming into our plant and our community,” Eichstadt said. “The sup-

Eichstadt was joined at a press conference Monday by Gov. Ted Strickland to make the official announcement, which comes on the heels of a $50.7 million stimulus tax credit for the company announced Jan. 8.

Tarlton shows helpful spirit with benefits

Fundraisers to be held Saturday and February 6

By CRAIG ALLISON

That small town helpful spirit people frequently acknowledge in this area is alive and well in Tarlton.

Two benefits for two different persons are scheduled to take place soon.

One is this Saturday for Alexander Hanson-Cyrus at the Tarlton Town Hall starting at 9 a.m.

The second benefit is for Perry Dean Jenkins, a clerk at the Tarlton Market who decided to donate a kidney to his friend Clay Smith. Jenkins’ benefit is scheduled for February 6.

Alex is the young man who fell through the ice on a farm pond at the Union Road address of his relatives on January 3. He had been attending a birthday celebration at the home when he and a cousin left the party to play outside.

The pair ended up on the ice where they fell through. Authorities estimated Alex was under the water for at least 45 minutes.

“His condition is still listed as critical,” said Connie Alan, a friend of the family who is

State Rep. Ray Pryor (D-Chillicothe) took to the steps of the Pickaway County Courthouse on Monday to announce his intent to run for re-election to the 85th Ohio House District.

Pryor, elected to his first term in November 2008, said he intends to continue traveling the district and listening to his constituents and then work to address those concerns at the state level.

The 85th district encompasses parts of Pickaway, Ross and Fayette counties.

by phone and we will handle arrangements," said Alan.

All proceeds will go to Alex's family.

On February 6 the village will stage a benefit for Perry Dean Jenkins, who donated a kidney to his friend Clay Smith. Jenkins works at Tarlton Market with Clay's wife and mother.

When he found out Clay was very ill and needed the kidney Jenkins decided to step forward and volunteer to donate after a great deal of soul searching and reflection.

The two were found to be a "perfect match."

The transplant was made December 8, 2009 during a six hour surgery at OSU Hospital.

Perry has not yet been allowed to return to work, and proceeds from the benefit will be given to Perry to help him defray his expenses until he can return to work.

The benefit will take place at the Tarlton Town Hall starting a 10 a.m.

Persons donating to the bake sale or the ticket auction can bring donations to the Town Hall from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. on Friday, February 5, or Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

If donations need to be picked up, or for more information on the auction, call Cindy Smith at 474-1201, or Ronjalee Wagner at 412-3720.

The Tarlton Fire Department will be selling lunch with those proceeds also going to Jenkins' fund.

Karaoke entertainment will be provided by Ed and Rita Smith.

home of new green energy and green jobs for our state."

Not only will the move create new jobs for Pickaway County, Strickland said, but it also guarantees the retention of 444 additional jobs in advanced energy manufacturing at DuPont's Circleville plant.

The announcement also was shared by state officials Congressman Steve Austria, Sen. John Carey, Sen. Tim Schaffer, Rep. Dan Dodd and Lisa Patt-McDaniel, director of the Ohio Department of Development, along with Glenn Reeser, Pickaway County Commissioner, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Chuck Taylor, Circleville mayor.

"This is a wonderful thing for Pickaway County right now to have this investment come here," Taylor said. "It couldn't happen at a better time in Circleville history, in my opinion."

The $175 million local investment is in addition to a $120 million investment announced in August for raw materials used to make the Tedlar film, bringing the total commitment of the two phases to $295 million for DuPont. Tedlar PV2001 series orient-

DAVID AMEY/The Herald "We are absolutely elated to have this investment coming into our plant and our community," said Tony Eichstadt ed film serves as the critical component of photovoltaic backsheets, providing long-term durability and performance for photovoltaic modules in all-weather conditions, according to DuPont.

Tedlar enables solar modules to achieve long-life performance, providing a long-term sustainable energy source for the marketplace and resulting in larger investment returns in solar energy projects and a lower cost of solar electricity to consumers.

The new production line will utilize space and retrofitted equipment from the DuPont Teijin line that closed in January 2009 and displaced at least 80 workers.

Eichstadt said the majority of the job loss was cushioned through retirements and by moving full-time DuPont employees temporarily into contract positions at the plant.

Reeser said he hopes this is the first of many signs of economic recovery for Pickaway County.

"I don't think the last 10 years have been very kind to Pickaway County," he said. "We've lost thousands of good-paying jobs locally, and I'm hoping this will be a benchmark to turning things around in our area. It's a real vote of confidence for Tony and his team down there that the headquarters of DuPont are willing to invest this kind of money. You don't invest that much unless you're committed to this location."

While the new job creation will basically even out the ones lost last January at the plant, the additional construction jobs over the next 19 months and job retention at the plant are a very good sign, Reeser said.

"They could have put this line anywhere they wanted in the world, and they chose Pickaway County," he said. "I feel like we've bottomed out, and hopefully this will be one of the first big signs we're starting to turn up a bit."
